OFFICE OF THE REV. COMR. IN MYSORE,

FROM

T. ANANDA ROW, ESQ., B.A., Revenue Commissioner in Mysore.

To

The Secretary to the Government of His Highness
the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Departments.

SIR,

With reference to your Docket No, R.4155 dated 28th June 1904 calling for a report on Dasara Representative Assembly Subject No.118 of 1903 (employment of Monegars for all large tanks), I Have the honor to forward herewith in original reports received from the Deputy Commissioners of Districts except those of Bangalore and Kadur who have not as yet given their opinions in spite of several reminders. Another urgent reminder has been sent to these Deputy Commissioners

2. It will be seen that the Deputy Commissioners of Kolar Tumkur, Mysore and Shimoga think that no changes are called for in the existing system while those of Hassan and Chitaldrug would have Monegars for tanks irrigating lands assessed at Rs.1000 and upwards. I think a general rule of the kind is unnecessary. Each tank should be dealt with individually and with reference to its special circumstance the general principles to be respected being as follows:-

(a) The local mamool should be respected as much as possible, the Patel advised or aided by a respectable panchayet of local ryots being responsible for a fair and equitable distribution of water in accordance with usages, Nirgantis or other village servants ~~acting~~ working under their Orders, remunerated by service Inam lands or miras from tyots or both as the case may be.

(b) Stipendiary agency like monegars should be introduced only where the areas to be irrigated are too large for Patel and Panchayet, or by being situated in two or more villages cannot conveniently be under a single Patel and panchayet.

(c) In all cases where constant or serious difficulty is experienced in effecting a fair and equitable distribution of water, facilities should be afforded by a professional grading and improvement of the main supply channels the areas to be irrigated being parcelled out in blocks, and each block furnished with an iron or earthen sluice of proper size sufficient for an automatic supply of water to the entire block to which it is assigned. The cost of this can be borne by the land holders benefitted by such regulation and improvement

With reference to your reminder No. 1945-52 of the 1st instant calling for a report re the appointment of Nala Manegars for large tanks, I have the honor to state that there are already manegars employed for some of the big tanks in this District

2 I presume that all major tanks do not come under the category of large tanks. Most of the major tanks do not supply water for the lands under them for both the Kartika and Vysakhi crops The services of a full time manegar manegar for these tanks seem therefore unnecessary Such of the large tanks as can supply water for both the crops to a large extent of atchakat may require a special man to regulate the supply of water uniformly throughout the year. In such cases the appointment of a Nala Manégar is justifiable As regards the supply of water below the other less important and minor tanks the regulation thereof may be left entirely to the Village officials as opened by me in my letter No. 1006/115 dated 13th August 1904. I do not think that any change is called for in the present system of regulating the water supply which has worked satisfactorily under the supervision of the Taluk officials.

Sir,

With reference to your circular No. 1074-81 dated 18th August 1904, requesting to report on subject No. 118 of the Dasara Representative Assembly Proceedings of 1903, in the matter of the appointment of Nala managers for large tanks, I have the honor to state that there are only two managers in this District - one for Bheemasamudra tank and the other for the tanks belonging to the Retalgere project in the Chitaldrug and Challakere Taluks respectively. There are also Sowdees and Nirguntees appointed by Government for the above tanks who work under these managers and regulate the supply of water to the lands thereunder. With regard to the other large tanks, the supply of water for irrigation is regulated by the Nirguntees of the village under the direct supervision of the Patel and some other leading ryots. In return for this service the Nirgunties receive Meras from the villagers and this system may stand when the tank irrigates the lands of but one village In the case of tanks irrigating the lands of more than one village and yielding a revenue of more than Rs 1000/- per annum, the appointment of Nalamenegaru seems desirable

In the case of the taukat Kadaba where emanated the subject, it was decided so long ago as 1894 that a Manegar was unnecessary Copy of letter No. 625 dated 7 February 1894 to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Mysore from the Deputy Commissioner is enclosed for reference. One section of the people have been asking for such an appointment while the other have opposed it. The matter came up again before Mr. M. S. Sir,

With reference to your Memorandum No: 1248 of the 28th January 1894 (received today) forwarding for attention and disposal the petition of Venkatachar and Anantaramayya of Kadaba in the Gubbi Taluk, I have the honor to state as follows:-

2 The petitioners request that the wars of the Kadaba Tank may be raised as urged by their representatives at the Representative Assembly of last year but that sanction may not be accorded for the entertainment of a Manager for the distribution of water for irrigation under the Tank

3 The question of raising the weirs of this Tank formed the subject of a long Correspondence between me and the Executive Engineer and then the Chief Engineer, the latter thinking that the proposal to increase the Capacity of the Tank was not advisable as the present height of the bund was not sufficient to admit of additional storage of water. But the point having been mooted by the people of Kadaba when the Dewan had encamped at Gubbi on the 11th of January 1894 the Dewan informed them that he had sent orders to the Public Works Department to raise the were of the Land Revenue, also the bund of necessary. In regard to the other point the Dewan replied that no Manager would be appointed but that the local Authorities would arrange for the proper distribution of water through the Potels and Neerguntees as usual.

Sir

With reference to your circular No 1074-81 dated 1st Aug 1904 calling for the submission of a report regarding the appointment of Nala manigars for large tanks as suggested in Subject. No 118 of the Hasana Representative Assembly Proceedings of 1903 I have the honor to state that the subject under reference has a bearing bearing on Subject 114 Whereon the representatives Member asked for the inspection and regulation of water supply of large tanks by higher Revenue Officers before the cultivation season with a view to regulate the supply of water to the fields thereunder.

The suggestion of appointing manigars would only concern large tanks as any such proposal for minor tanks would be unnecessary. For the better discussion of the subject it is important to consider the method in vogue for the regulation of supply of water from large tanks There are village Servants designated Niganties in some villages who enjoy minas and in some instances service inam lands in recognition of their duties in connection with the regulation of water supply to lands below tanks These men not unfrequently side with men of affluence in the village and

and their actions cannot be effectively controlled by Hobli Sherkdars and other higher Revenue Officers whose work and supervision are extended over large areas In places where there are no Nirgantees the regulation of supply of water to the fields is in the hands of Patel assisted by the villagers. Even this arrangement is not attended with satisfactory results The owners of lands more remotely situated from the Tanks never cease to complain that the supply of water to their fields is diminished by the excessive use of water by riyots owning lands situated closer to the tanks, and this more especially concerns the large tanks which irrigate extensive areas The best remedy that I can suggest is the appointment of paid manegars (as in the case of irrigation channels drawn from rivers) whose duty it would be to supervise the Nirgantees and enforce the fair distribution of water Such manegars might be appointed for tanks irrigating lands assessed assessed at Rs 10000/- and upwards and these Enamegars might be made subordinate to the existing Tank Inspectors who should exercise some control over them

2 For smaller tanks it does not appear feasible to do more than require the Village Patels to attend to the fair distribution of water from the tanks of their villages

Sir

In reply to your circular No 1074-81 of the 1st/22nd August 1904, regarding the appointment of Nala manegars for large tanks for regulating the supply of water to lands thereunder, without giving room for complaint, I have the honor to state that separate establishments of manegars and sowdees are at present maintained for regulating the supply of water from the channels led off from the large tanks of Madaga, Lyakere and Kuresante in the Kadur Taluk and from the Ramanhalli channel in the Chikmagalur Taluk.

2 I am of opinion that all tanks yielding more than Rs 5000/- should have a manegar who should be answerable for the proper distribution of water according to manual, without giving room for complaint. He should go over the channel every day during the cultivation season and see that no undue favour is shown to any ryot to the prejudice of others. He should get the ryots concerned to remove weeds and clear silt from the channel.

for

3 In the case of tanks above Rs 500/- there should invariably be a Nirgunti to regulate the supply of water under the orders of the village Patel.

Sir,

With reference to your circular No. 1074-81 of 1st August 1904, calling for my opinion in the matter of appointment of Nala manegars for large tanks &c (Subject No. 118 of D. R. A Proceedings of 1903) I have the honor to state that the Assistant Commissioners of this District were consulted on the subject. Mr. Komarsami Naik reports that the appointment of Nala manegars for large tanks not a new one of its kind that Government have, in consideration of the importance of tanks, wherever they exist appointed such agency, as for example, Amanikere Shekdar for Hoskote Taluk and Nala manepars for madagadakere and Gyanakere in the Kadur Taluk and that the appointment of Nala manepars is called for in the case of very important tanks while in other cases it is superfluous.

Mr. Thompson Chetty is in favour of such appointments being made when the revenue of the atchkat under the tank is Rs. 5000/ or above.

So far as information has been received there are two such large irrigation works in this District one in Hoskote (Hoskote Tank) and another in Channapatna (Abburané)

And for these special establishment exists There are two more important tanks, viz. Gowrammanakere in Doddabbapur and Bandar Virupakshipura and for these no such special agency is allowed and the distribution of water in regard to these is attended to by the Nirgantis

I concur with Mr. Chengiah Chetty in his opinion that Nalamanepars may be appointed to tanks whose Aichkat is Rs. 5000/. and above and in respect of other tanks I do not think that any special agency is necessary

SUBJECT

MGCPB—9,000—11-9-04

Read above it will be seen that the Dy Commrs of the Kolar, Tumkur Mysore and Shimoga Districts are not in favour of any change being introduced into the present System; while those of Hassan and Chitaldrug are for having managers for tanks irrigating lands assessed at Rs1000 and upwards and the Dy Commrs of the Kadur and the Bangalore Districts would fix that limit for appointing such managers at tanks yielding a revenue of more than at 5000 Rs; the manager being who should be answerable for the proper distribution of water according to the manual without giving room for complaints from ryots. The Rev Commr thinks that no general rule is called for in the matter and that each tank may be dealt with individually and with reference to its Special circumstances and enumerates certain principles which he suggests may be observed in such matters.

G.R.S. 27]

GENERAL AND REVENUE SECRETARIAT.

(Continuation Sheet draft form.)

2. Govt concur with the Rev Comm's view that it is inexpedient to lay down any hard and fast rules on the subject or define any limits for universal application and that each case may be decided on its own merits. With regard to the principles suggested by the Rev Comm, they are those which are generally acted upon now, and there does not seem to be any necessity to define them with any rigidity ~~as it seems preferable to leave~~ the question of the regulation of the distribution to the co-operative spirit of the Ryots concerned and to interfere only in cases where this spirit fails to act.
